Hi, I'm Richi

As a child, I loved watching romantic comedies like 'The Wedding Planner' and 'Bride Wars'. I clung to the idea of a planner, as someone who would hold up two napkins and ask if you preferred blush or beige. When I became engaged, the thought of having a wedding planner filled me with excitement, expecting a delightful, collaborative experience. Unfortunately, that didn't happen, but luckily, I was both an architect and a former Lebanese pop star!

As a teenager, I had the number one song in the Middle East and performed for tens of thousands of people, even taking to the Oscars stage in Hollywood! It was a dream come true, and I was very hands-on in the creative planning of my high-energy shows. Subsequently, I joined one of the world's largest architecture firms, realising another dream as I watched the iconic skyscrapers we designed adorn the Melbourne skyline.

When David finally proposed, I shared my mood board with several planners to gain a better understanding of the cost of a wedding like mine. I quickly learned that it would be an expensive affair! I was budget-conscious, but willing to invest in special elements that would make it truly unique and amazing. I selected the wedding planner I thought could deliver my budget and vision, but it wasn't the case. Leveraging my skills in stage production and architectural visualisation, I took control and meticulously crafted the wedding of my dreams.

I became the wedding planner I wish I had but also thought, wouldn't it be amazing to offer this to other creative visionaries like me—someone who appreciates a theme or concept, or even someone who just needs to see what they're buying? When I told my friends and family that I was thinking of starting a wedding planning business, they screamed "Oh my gosh, that is so perfect and so you". After becoming certified by the Wedding Academy Global, I established Davicii Weddings & Events. It's like Drew Barrymore said she learned in 'Ever After': "We must rescue ourselves and yet still want the fairytale!"

“The personalised client experience” is at the heart of how we deliver our service packages, which include:

“Cannot recommend Davicii enough, I could not have designed this wedding without them! Richii completely understood the vision & helped bring our ideas together perfectly, while also understanding budget. He was super detailed in handling all the logistics so that we could enjoy our wedding day stress-free. I love how involved we were in the process, & how talented Richii was with our stunning Design Document! The whole planning journey was really fun & our guests were commenting about how amazing and organised everything was. If you’re looking for a wedding planner who takes the time to understand your vision, and makes it a reality, go with Davicii”

“Beyond words...Davicii really turned our wedding dreams into life! From the very first chat, we knew we were working with a real designer. Richii really made sure to understand our style and make us feel a part of the creative process where everything was super personal and unique. Every detail was captured in a floor plan or diagram with a level of organisation that wowed us, our guests and even our vendors!...What really set Davicii apart for me was how they listened to my bold ideas and thought how to make them even more spectacular. We felt supported and understood the whole way through, and fully enjoyed the journey...Thank you Davicii team...in one word...magic!”

Kind Words

Step 1...

If you already have your wedding date in mind, the next step is to contact us to ensure our availability for your special day. Once we've confirmed our schedule aligns with yours, we'll arrange a complimentary meeting via Google Meet. During this introductory consultation, our focus isn't immediately on wedding-related matters. Instead, we begin by introducing ourselves and taking the time to get to know you both better. It's an opportunity for us to understand your unique personalities, preferences, and the beautiful story that binds you together.

Step 2...

Moving on, we delve into the heart of your wedding dreams, exploring your unique styles, interests, cultural backgrounds, and any special elements you may also want to incorporate. At this early stage, three key aspects take centre stage: guest count (your initial estimate), venue ideas (your thoughts and preferences regarding potential venues) and budget discussion (an open and honest conversation about your wedding budget to help us understand your financial priorities and where flexibility may exist).

Step 3!

Typically, within a couple of days, we'll craft a customised proposal tailored to your unique preferences and the details discussed during our consultation. This proposal will include a quotation for our services. To offer you flexibility and choice, we usually present three service options. Once you've made your selection, it's time for confirmation. You'll sign the contract and submit the deposit, marking the official start of our wedding planning journey together.
