

CINEMATIC WEDDING FILM
& PHOTOGRAPHY

Colours. Heaps and tons of it.

I think one of the best things about weddings is the gushing stream of pure joy and emotion that flows throughout the day.

The excitement, anticipation, and tears, all perfused with romance in the air, and I just can't get enough of it. Truly there's nothing like it!

And real, honest, unhindered colours, truly in my opinion, is the best way to channel all those emotions within every pixel of a photograph. As a visual person, I am a firm believer that to conceal those colours is to conceal the emotions within, and the day I did that might as well be the day I quit weddings.

And that is why to me, your wedding imagery should be bright, bold, festive and vibrant. Just like your big day!

Unfortunately for most, your special day will feel like a blur. Everything is happening so quick you wouldn't have enough time to properly absorb and feel all these emotions pouring over you. All of a sudden, it is the final song of the night, and everyone's hugging you, saying their farewell.

That is where wedding films fits in. Because there's just way too many precious, once in a lifetime moment, that photos alone will not do justice. The trembling of the voice during the vows and speeches, the pride and love in your parents' eyes as they walk you down the aisle, the loud cheer from your friends and family during your first kiss as newlyweds. There's just too much!

A good wedding film will allow you to relive those moments again, and again. And better yet, allows you to share those moments with your future family members, and perhaps, to remind and to strengthen you again as a couple when times were rough.

A WORD FROM OUR CLIENTS

Nancy Hope

I choose Libera Art Production for our wedding. The best decision ever. Ravi and his team was amazing on the day. Outstanding service.

Wedding day can be hectic and stressful but having Ravi and his calm attitude made the whole process so easy and stress free. He is very professional & talented.

I received so much compliments from friends and family for the photos he has taken. I would definitely recommend Libera Art Production. Thank you Ravi for amazing photos. Well done

Jessica Gavrila Gunawan

I've been using their service since when I got married until first birthday of my second child. That's how great their service is! Professional, friendly and would do their best to cater our personal request

ABOUT ME

My name is Immanuel Ravi Arief, the head photographer and videographer of Libera Arts, and this small company is my life.

I believe that memories are the real treasures of life. It defines our thoughts and personalities, and shapes our identity as a human.

Unfortunately, under the stress of present challenges, we often undermine its significance. Only years from now will we realise, but then it would be too late.

The core value of Libera Arts stems from my personal experience. I initially started the business only to make ends meet. However the loss of my grandparents a few years after changed everything.

Upon their passing, I scoured my home for any trace of video or photographs of them just to remind me of how they walk, talk, and laugh.. but I was only met with disappointment.

Only then would I realise the significance of my work, and that transforms my vision for the company completely.

Ever since, I dedicated my craft as a form of legacy; an art form that also serves as a family heirloom. A priceless memory to be passed on from one generation to another.

More than anything, our works at Libera Arts will always be emotionally oriented, memory fueled, honest and genuine, with nothing to hide, and unhindered by trends.
